

New World Leadership®

for Executives

The 2027 Cohort

Things are changing at the speed of light.

It is exciting and exhilarating but also can be scary and exhausting. True plans are not lists; they are ratios.

Transformation of any culture starts with the C-suite.

The traditional, hyper-rational approaches of the past are no longer sufficient. This exclusive 12-module cohort program is specifically designed to enhance your personal approach and stretch into the complexity of human connection and interpersonal relationships.

The Change Innovators Difference

Traditional programs focus heavily on mechanical strategy. We focus on your biology. By integrating advanced psychometric data (EQ-i 2.0), the neuroscience of change, and HeartMath® biometric techniques, we don't just teach theory, we literally measure and upgrade how your nervous system processes executive stress and complexity.

"Life-changing programs that transform individuals, teams, and organizations."

SUSTAINABLE LEADERSHIP
HABIT ADOPTION

Our approach doesn't just inform; it transforms. We excel by bridging the gap between cognitive understanding and practical, on-the-job application, a metric where we consistently outperform others.

Our graduates consistently say that our programs are “Life changing”, That’s why we made our strapline “Life Changing Leadership”.

MARRIOTT, LONDON COUNTY HALL

An environment enabling deep transformation.

Designed by English architect Ralph Knott in 1909, construction began in 1912. Built in a grand Edwardian Baroque style featuring a Portland stone facade, heavy bronze doors, and English oak and teak paneling, the building was officially opened in 1922 by King George V and Queen Mary. For over six decades, it served as the headquarters first for the London County Council (LCC) and later, from 1965, the Greater London Council (GLC). During World War II, the iconic structure survived bomb damage during the Blitz while remaining an essential civic stronghold.

On September 23, 1998, Bill Marriott officially opened the London Marriott Hotel County Hall. The restoration carefully preserved key architectural heritage, including grand corridors, Belgian marble fireplaces, and original wood-paneled debating chambers—now converted into guest rooms, suites, and event spaces. Today, the 241-room hotel seamlessly blends 20th-century political heritage with five-star hospitality overlooking Big Ben and the Thames.

Historical location

Situated on the river Thames with iconic views of Big Ben, the Houses of Parliament and the London Eye.

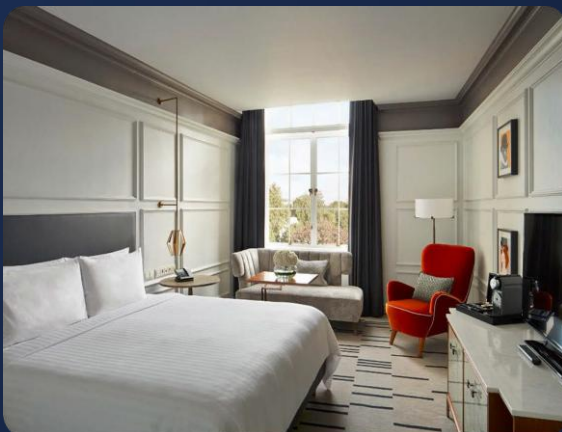

High-quality event spaces

Intimate high end meeting spaces designed for psychological safety and deep focus.

Executive suites

Pillowtop bedding, marble bathrooms and world class facilities.

Culinary excellence

Premium dining and networking spaces to foster connection

THE SYLLABUS
